BACK-TO-BACK SILVER AT THE 2026 AUSTRALASIAN REPORTING AWARDS

The Judicial Commission of Victoria is pleased to announce that it has received a Silver Award at the 2026 Australasian Reporting Awards, marking the second consecutive year that the Commission has been recognised with this honour.

The award acknowledges the Commission's continued commitment to excellence in public reporting, including the preparation of reports that are clear, accountable and accessible.

The Australasian Reporting Awards recognise and encourage high standards in annual reporting across Australia, New Zealand and the Asia-Pacific region. The Commission's Silver Award reflects the quality of its reporting and its ongoing focus on transparency, accountability and continuous improvement.

Alexis Eddy, Director at the Commission, said, "We are pleased to again receive a Silver Award at the Australasian Reporting Awards. This recognition reflects the Judicial Commission of Victoria's ongoing commitment to transparent and accessible reporting".

This recognition also acknowledges the contribution of staff and all those involved in the preparation of the Commission's annual report.

The Commission remains committed to quality reporting and to providing the Victorian community with clear and meaningful information about its role and work.
